DEALINGS ON SMALL SCALE

IRREGULAR BUT STRONG AT THE CLOSE.

New York, Oct. 26.-Quiet conditions reigned throughout the two hours' session at the stock exchange today. Owing to the rule of procedure whereby the loans made on Friday earry over until Monday of the following week, the immediate borrowing of money was not a necessity and the direct influence of the money position was to that extent in abeyance. The market was not active and the influence towards repression of speculative activity or dealings on martical activities and the influence towards repression of speculative activity or dealings on martical activities. The tone of the market was regarded, nevertheless, as a reliable index of the prevailing sentiment over the financial situation. The expression of increased confidence through this medium was unmistakable. There were occasional reactions, and some individual stocks, especially the inactive list, were severely depressed. The action of the market was clearly towards resistance to any eleclearly towards resistance to any ele-ments of depression and the closing tone was still riregularly strong. The bank statement caused statement caused a momentary wavering, a report of a deficit below the legal reserve exercising an inevitable sentimental influence. Consideration of the statement detracted from its depressing influence. In view of the extraordinary events of the week, and the compilicated crossof the week and the complicated cross-currents in the situation the decrease of ess than $13,000,000 in the reserve held was considered not immoderate. The necessities of the situation and the was considered not immoderate. The recoverageous measures of relief adopted were explanatory of the $10,864,700 loan expansion. It was fortunate under the circumstances that the clearing house banks had started the week with so considerable a surplus reserve as the $11,122,630, so that the week's heavy demands have carried the reserves only $1,233,300 below the legal requirements, a showing of greater strength than has been made in any former periods of only comparative stress. It is notable also that the United States deposits included in the statement are only $13,613,500 greater than in last week's statement, whereas the actual addition of government deposits during the week is known to have been much greater. There is a ruling in force at the treasury department, never availed of by the clearing house banks, permitting government deposits to be segregated from those against which a cash reserve is required, owing to the high grade of the securities required as collateral against such deposits.

The principle involved in the maintenance of a fixed proportion of cash reserve by the banks is that of readiness for a sudden emergency, against which there is no prohibition of the use of the reserve even down to the point of exhaustion. The bank statement was regarded, therefore, as showing a reassuring degree of strength in the banking after that the additions seemed clearly Metact that the deficiency search the point of the fact that the statement was really better than was shown by the efficial figures, and a recovery in reserve by the banks is notable also that the bank the bank is also that the bank in last week's name with composure. It may be noted that this is the first week since that of $13,613,500 in deposits of public funds in New York banks, showing that the contributions by the reasury for the relief our market had been effective. It is not the cash of the point of exhaustion. The bank statement was regarded, therefore, as showing a reassuring degree of strength in the banking of the largest distribu
